This Research Symposium Series brings together 11 researchers from seven countries (Canada, France, Germany, Ireland, Italy, Switzerland, United Kingdom), focusing on space, time and/or rhythms in adult education. The aim of this series of webinars is threefold :

1. To provide researchers, graduate students and practitioners working in the field of adult and higher education an opportunity to share and discuss recent contributions related to the study of spatial, temporal and rhythmic dimensions in education.
2. To valorize research conducted in different linguistic, cultural and geographic areas, in order to highlight proximities, reinforce connections, explore differences, and ultimately strengthen international collaborations around theories and empirical studies related to the study of space, time and rhythm in adult education.
3. To contribute to the advance of the TRC Lab agenda of research and foster the study of rhythmic intelligence and its modalities of development.

Participation in this Research Symposium Series is free and open to anyone. Each Zoom session starts with a presentation from the main speaker (approx. 45 min.) and is followed by a discussion with the audience (approx. 40 min.).
