

TRANSDISCIPLINAIRES - « International Symposium On Rhythm - Chasing Rhythm : Encounters At The Edge of Academic and Epistemological Traditions » - Birmingham City University - May 29, 2019

lundi 1er avril 2019, par Rhuthmos

International Symposium On Rhythm

Chasing Rhythm :

Encounters at The Edge of Academic and Epistemological Traditions

Margaret St. Lecture room, School of Art

Birmingham City University, Birmingham UK

29 May 2019 - 9am-5pm

(PGR's Free entry on production of valid BCU Student card on arrival)

This Symposium acknowledges, records and responds to a period of revived interest in the philosophical understandings and methodological affordances of the category of rhythm across a range of subjects and disciplines.

The history of the study of rhythm is in itself denoted by a rhythmic cadence, as historian of rhythm, philosopher and social theorist Pascal Michon observes (2016). Michon identifies three fundamental periods of rhythmic renaissance : a first one, in ancient times, coinciding with the so called Hellenization of culture, characterised by a surge in written communication (Eikelboom, 2018). A second one, in modern times, that charted the social, economic and cultural effects of the Industrial Revolution ; and a third, contemporary one, that coincides with the intensification of globalization as we are currently experiencing it, but whose origins can be traced back to the twentieth century (Bachelard, 2000 ; Benveniste, 1966 ; Meschonnic, 1982).

It is the latter that frames and situates the themes explored in this Symposium, allowing us to interrogate the historical, cultural and societal conditions and moods that seem to invite and propel the return of rhythm. In particular, the Symposium aims to introduce novel theoretical and methodological explorations of rhythm within adult education & higher education ; sociology ; urban studies ; cultural-historical research ; critical, contextual and media studies.

Embracing a variety of theoretical-methodological approaches and moving beyond traditional disciplinary 'enclosures', this one-day International Symposium asks four fundamental questions :

- Why has Rhythm 'always haunted our tradition, without ever reaching the centre of its concerns' (Derrida, 1989) ?
- What is our relationship to Rhythm and how does Rhythm interact with us (Eikelboom, 2018) ?
- What future trajectories and cross-disciplinary pathways informed by rhythm can we envision ?
- Can and should rhythm(analysis) help overcome traditional disciplinary boundaries and aspire to philosophical/methodological centrality, alongside well-known categories such as time, space, consciousness and language ?

Invited Speakers

Michel Alhadeff-Jones, Professor in Adult Learning & Leadership, Columbia University, New York ; Psychosociologist & Rhythmanalyst at the Temporalities, Rhythms & Complexity Lab, Sunkhronos Institute, Geneva.

Dawn Lyon, Reader in Sociology, University of Kent.

Yi Chen, Lecturer in Contextual and Theoretical Studies, University of the Arts, London (UAL).

Julian Henriques, Director of the Topology Research Unit (TRU), Goldsmiths, London. Film producer, writer-director and sound artist.

Sunil Manghani, Professor of Theory, Practice & Critique, Winchester School of Art, University of Southampton.

Filip Vostal, Researcher, Institute of Philosophy, Academy of Sciences, Czech Republic.

Paola Crespi, Visiting Research Fellow, TRU, Goldsmiths, London. (?)

Conference convenor – D^r Fadia Dakka, Research Fellow – Deputy Director of CSPACE (Centre for the Study of Practice and Culture in Education) – Birmingham City University

Contact – Fadia.dakka@bcu.ac.uk

Provisional Programme (Overview)

9.00-9.45 – Registration (School of Art, Foyer)

9.45-10.00 – Opening Remarks

10.00-10.30 – Y. Chen – The cultural forms of ‘Rhythm’

10.30-11.00 – M. Alhadeff-Jones – Rhythmanalysis and adult education : exploring the rhythms of transformation processes.

11.00-11.30 – D. Lyon - The everyday rhythms of Billingsgate fish market : doing rhythmanalysis with the body and the camera.

11.30-11.45 – Coffee break

11.45-12.15 – J. Henriques – Rhythm, Arrhythm and Vibration.

12.15-12.45 – S. Manghani - Scenes from the City : Barthes’ Idiorhythmy as an Ethics of Rhythm.

12.45-13.15 – Paola Crespi (TBC)

13.15-14.30 – Lunch

14.30-15.30 – Roundtable event chaired by Filip Vostal

15.30-16.00 – Q&A

16.00-16.15 – Closing Remarks

16.15- 17.15 – Wine Reception